

A vertical wooden plank with a warm, reddish-brown stain and visible wood grain. The plank is set against a light gray background. At the bottom center of the plank, there is a white rectangular label with rounded corners containing the number 1901 in a bold, black, sans-serif font.

1901

1902

A stack of dark brown wooden planks, likely for flooring or cladding, is shown leaning against a light gray wall. The planks are arranged vertically, showing their grain and thickness. A white label with the number 1903 is positioned to the right of the stack.

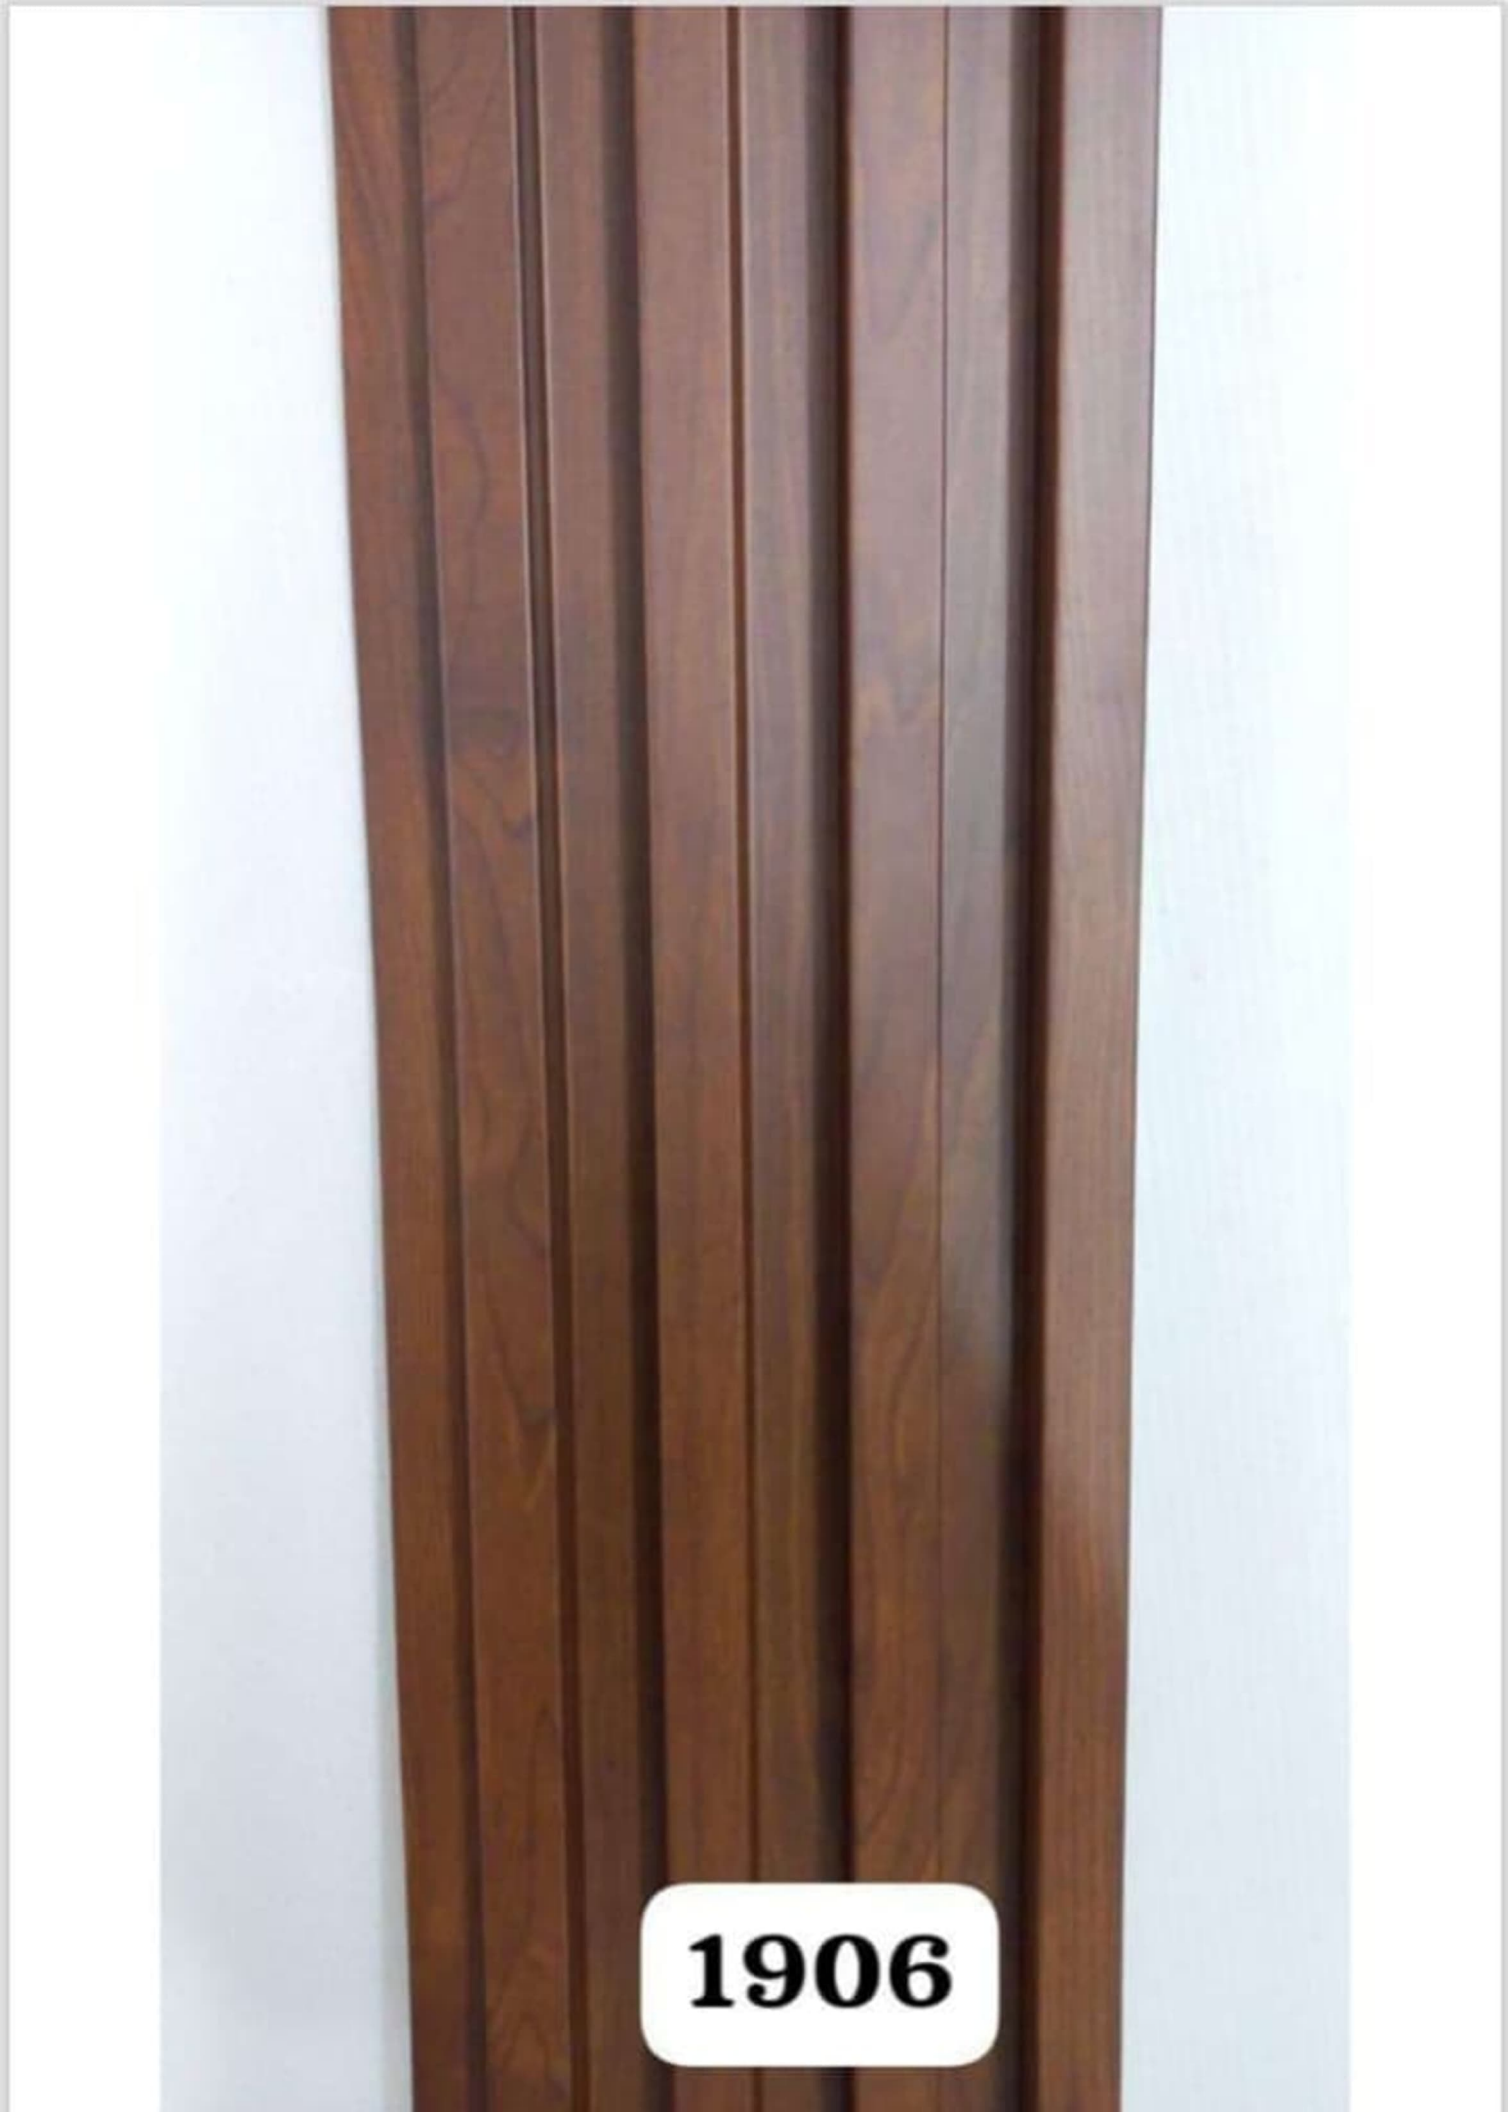

1903

A vertical wooden slat with a warm, reddish-brown finish and a visible wood grain. The slat is set against a light blue background.

1904

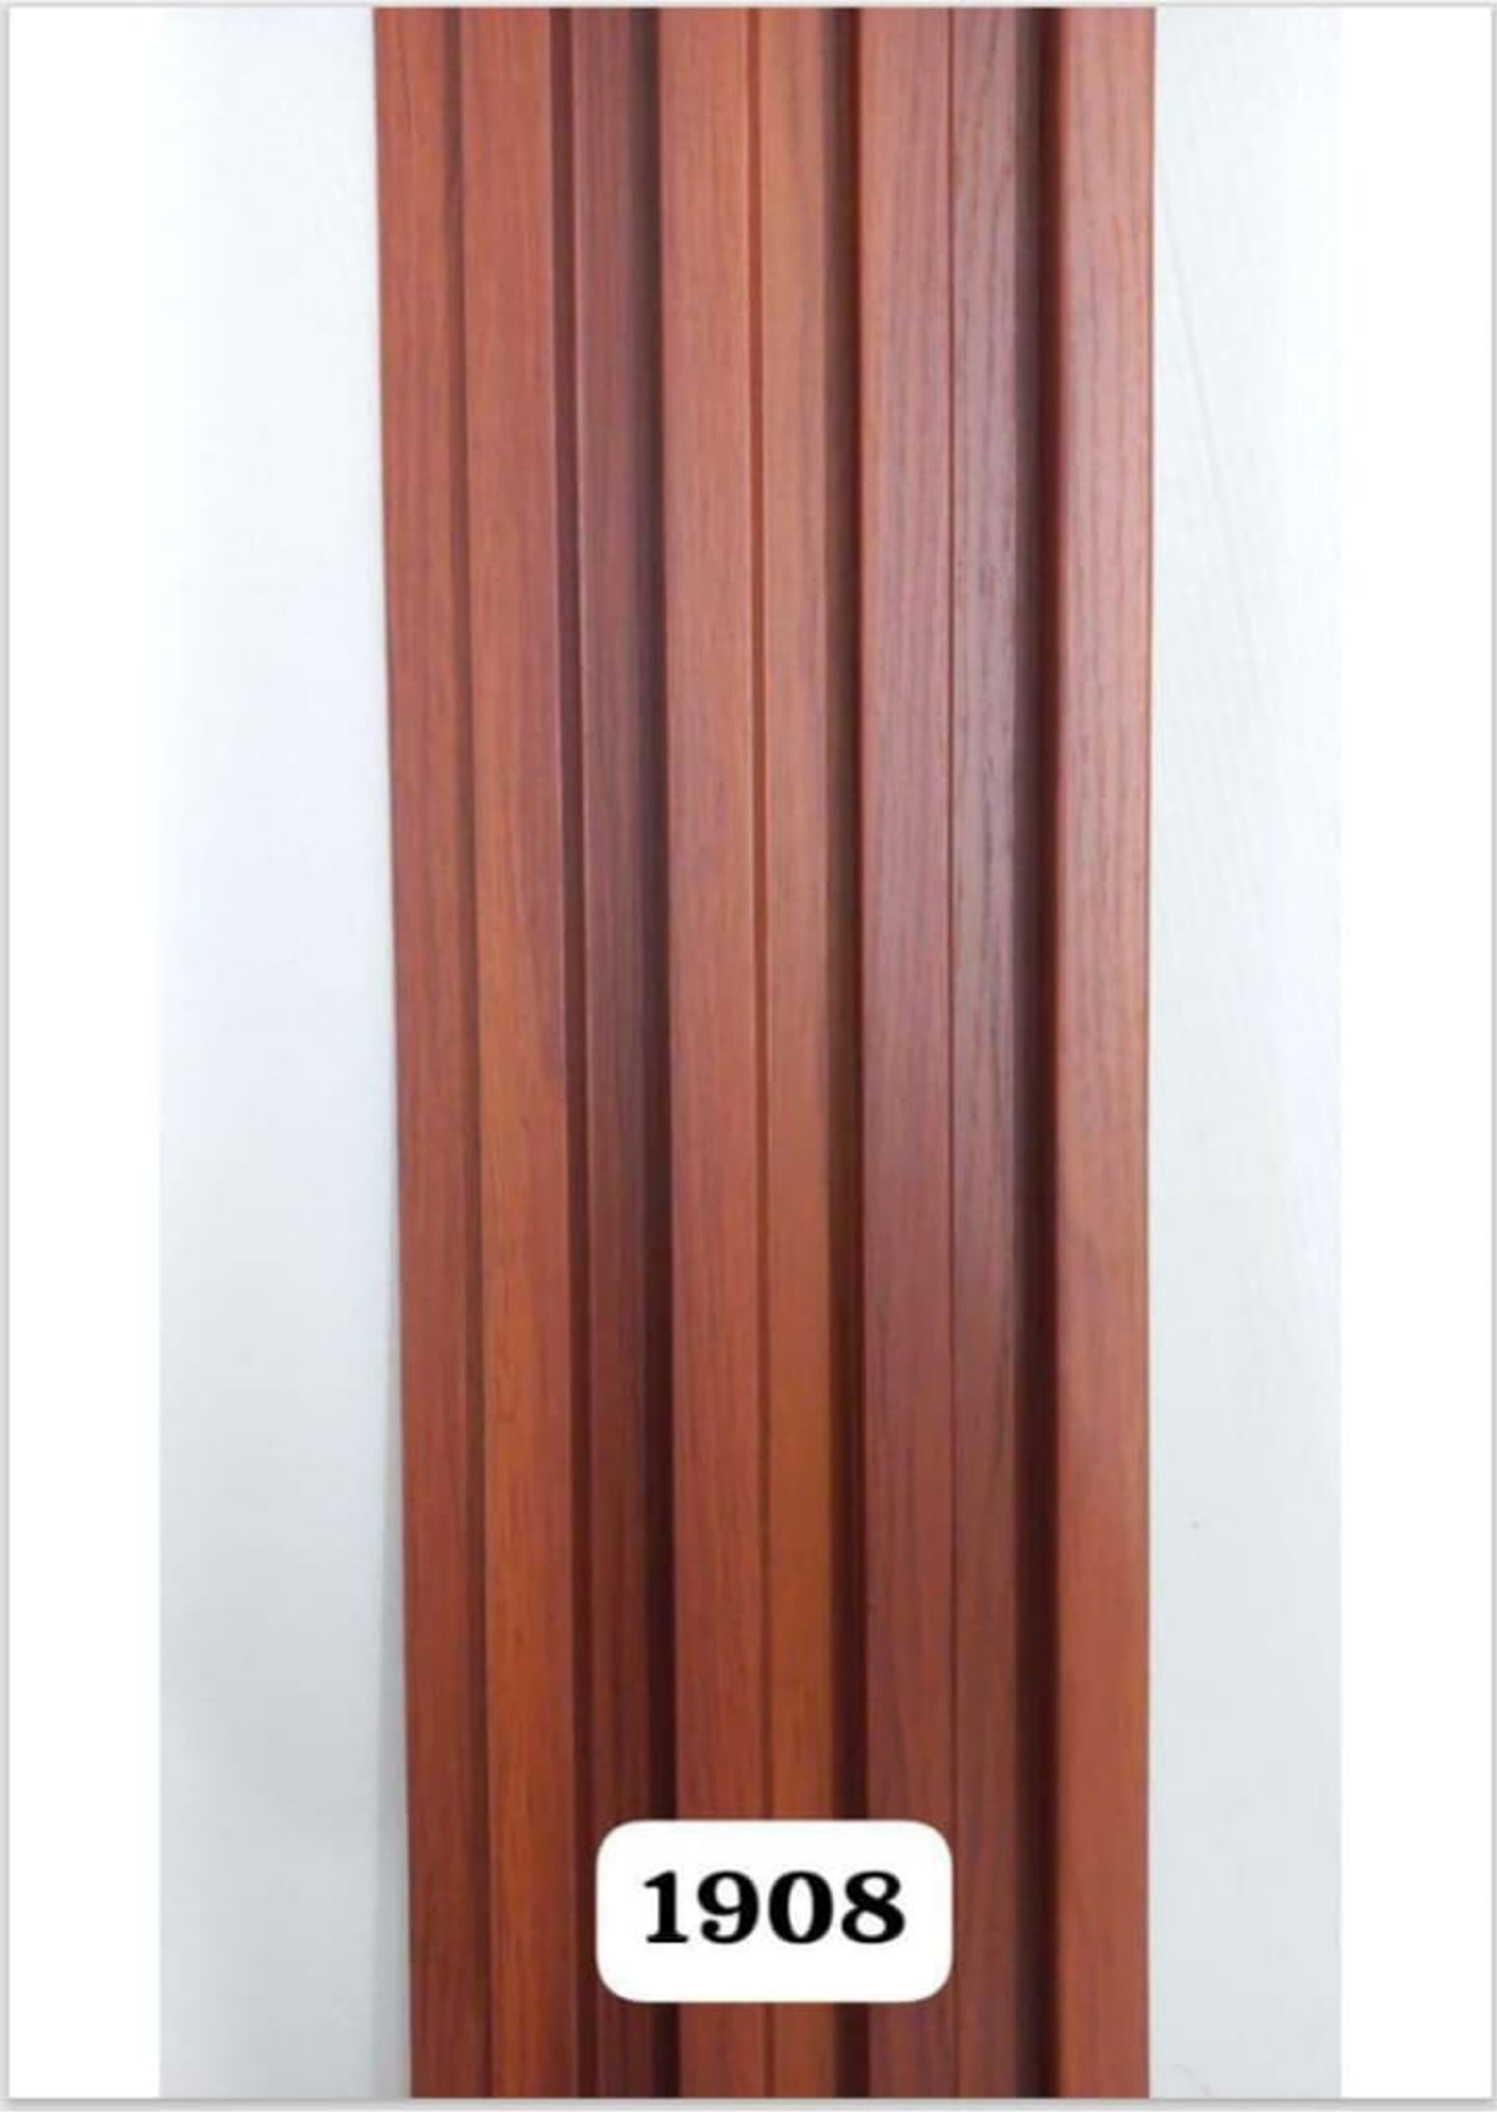

1905

The image shows a close-up of a wooden surface, likely a door or wall paneling. It features several vertical wooden strips separated by deep, dark grooves. The wood has a rich, dark brown stain and a visible grain pattern. The lighting is even, highlighting the texture of the wood.

1906

1907

A vertical wooden slat with a reddish-brown finish, showing a natural wood grain pattern. The slat is centered against a light gray background.

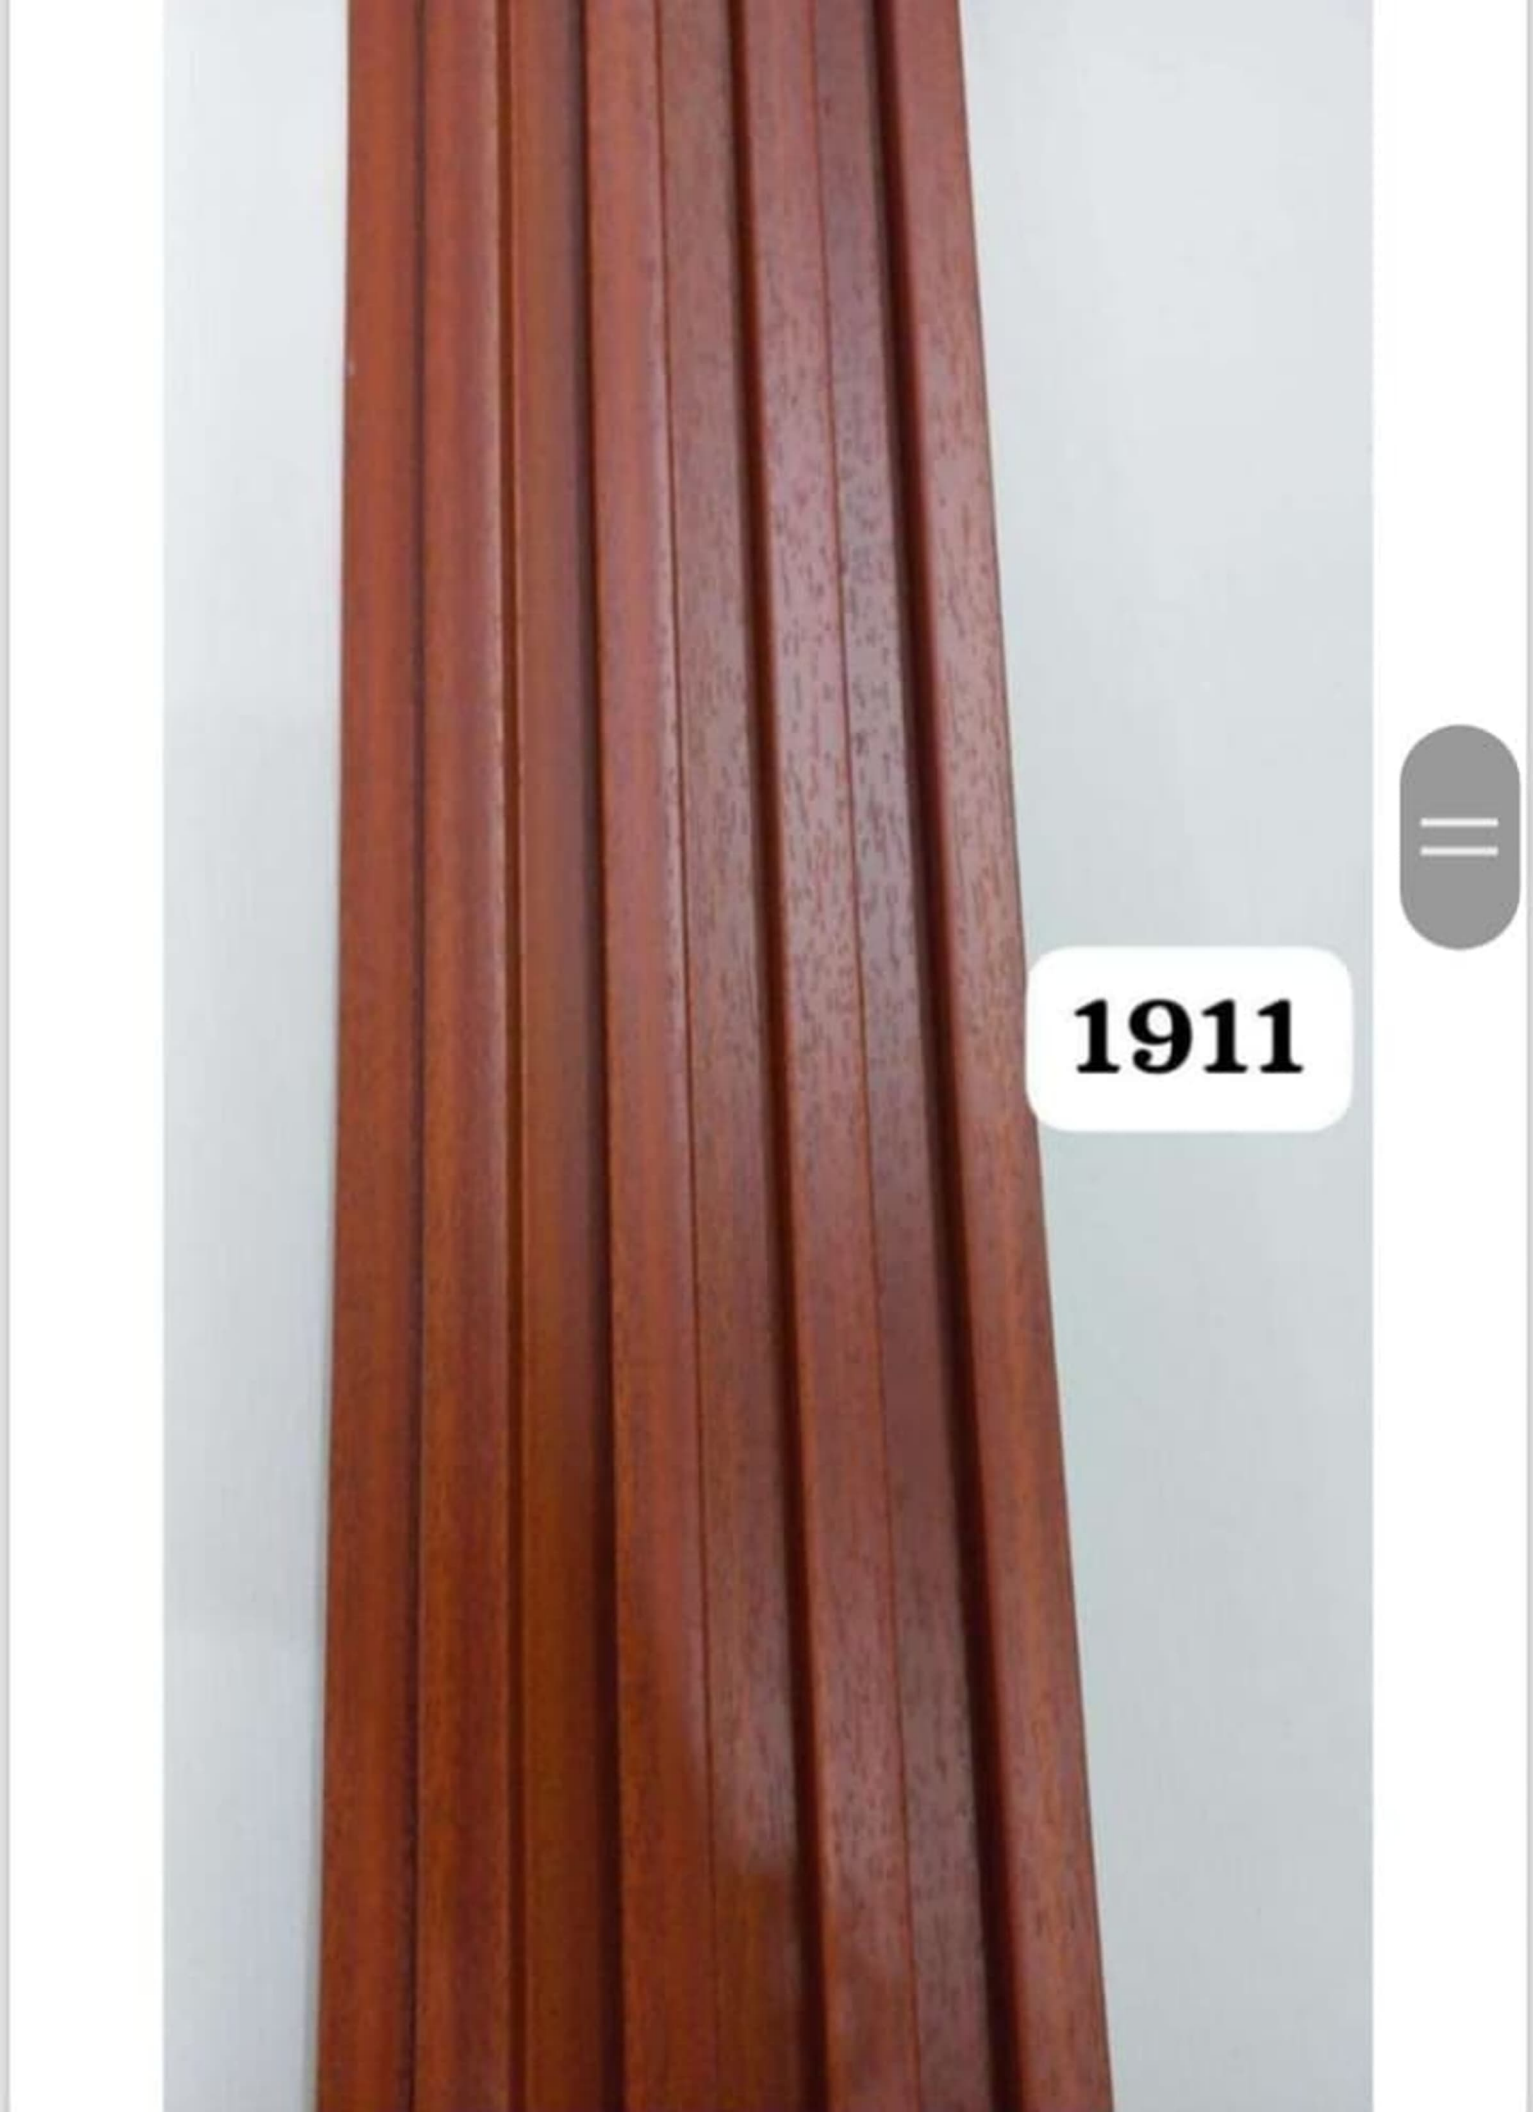

1908

A close-up photograph of several vertical wooden planks, likely made of oak, showing a rich brown color and a prominent vertical grain pattern. The planks are arranged side-by-side, filling most of the frame. The background is a plain, light blue-grey surface.

1909

1510

A photograph of a wooden book spine, likely made of teak, showing a vertical grain pattern. A white rectangular label is affixed to the spine. To the right of the spine, a grey rounded rectangle contains a white equals sign.

1911

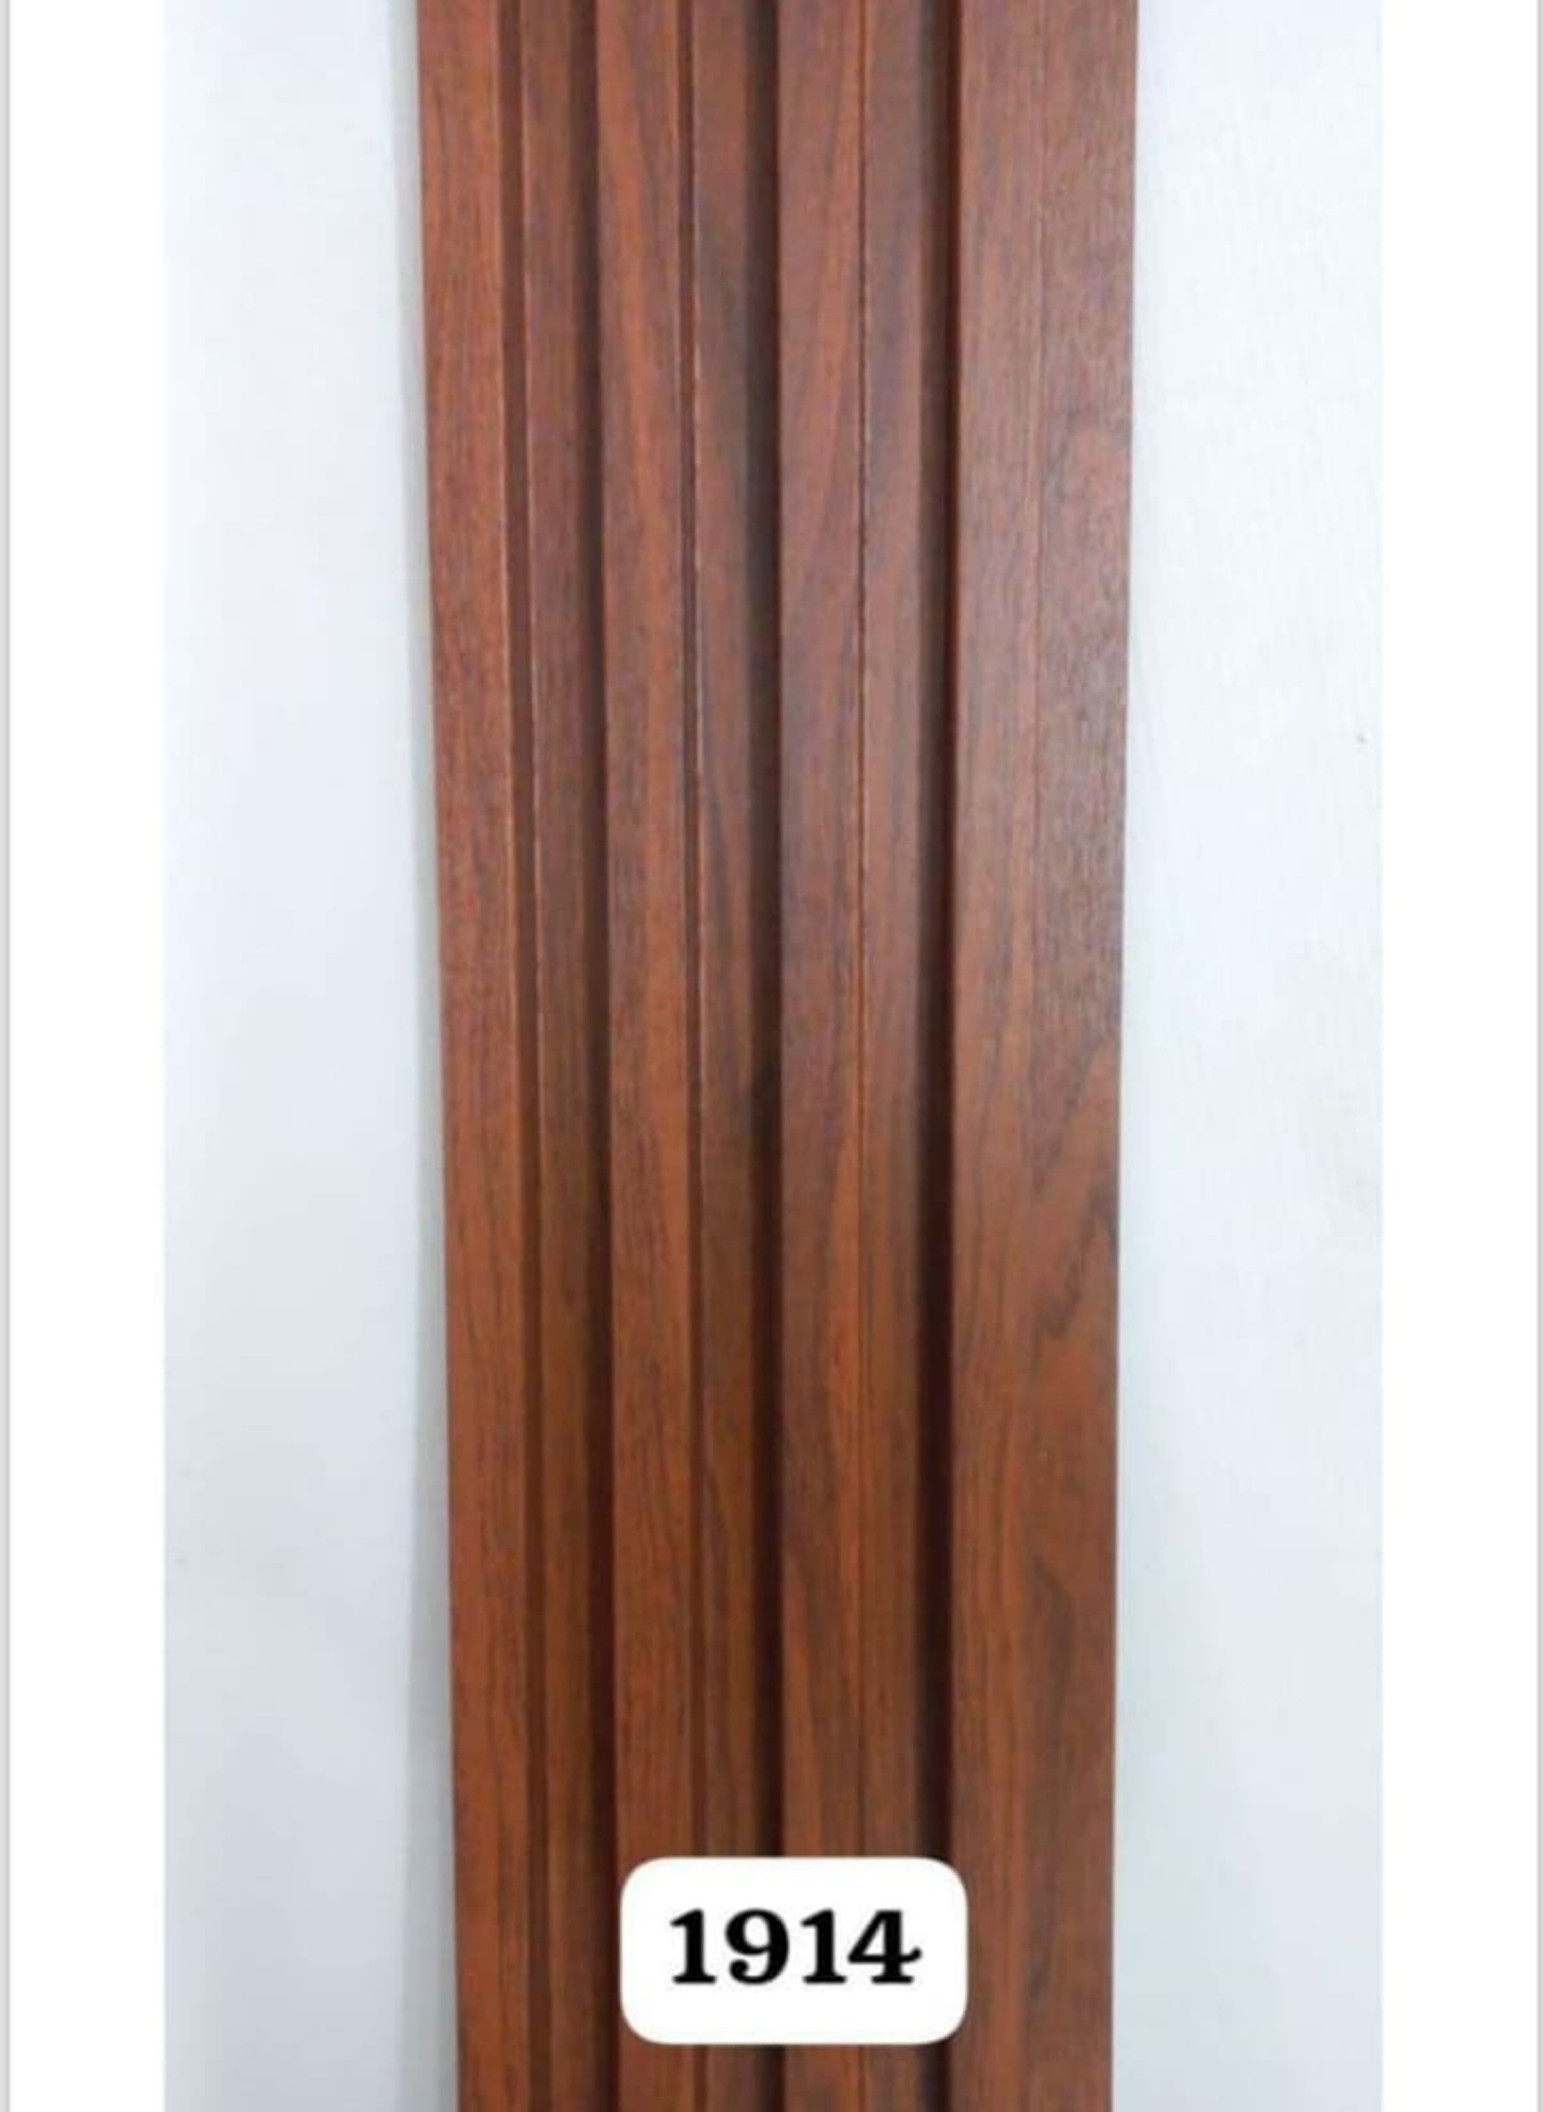

=

The image shows a piece of paper with a marbled pattern. The background is a light, off-white color. Overlaid on this are several vertical stripes of varying widths. These stripes are a pale, dusty rose or light pink color. Within these pink stripes, there are intricate, branching, and swirling patterns of a darker, more vibrant pink or reddish-brown color, resembling natural stone or biological veins. The overall effect is a complex, layered texture.

1912

A stack of several long, thin wooden planks is leaning against a light blue wall. The planks are arranged vertically, with their ends pointing towards the top of the frame. The wood has a natural, light brown color with visible grain patterns. The background is a solid, light blue wall.

1913

A close-up photograph of a vertical wooden slat, likely part of a door or window blind. The wood has a rich, reddish-brown stain and a visible grain. The slat is flanked by white material on both sides. At the bottom center, there is a white rectangular label with rounded corners containing the year '1914' in a bold, black, sans-serif font.

1914

1915

1916

1917

1918

The image shows a vertical architectural element. In the center is a dark grey, fluted column. On either side of the column are panels of light beige marble with thin, dark veins. At the bottom center, there is a white rounded rectangle containing the number 1519.

1519

1520

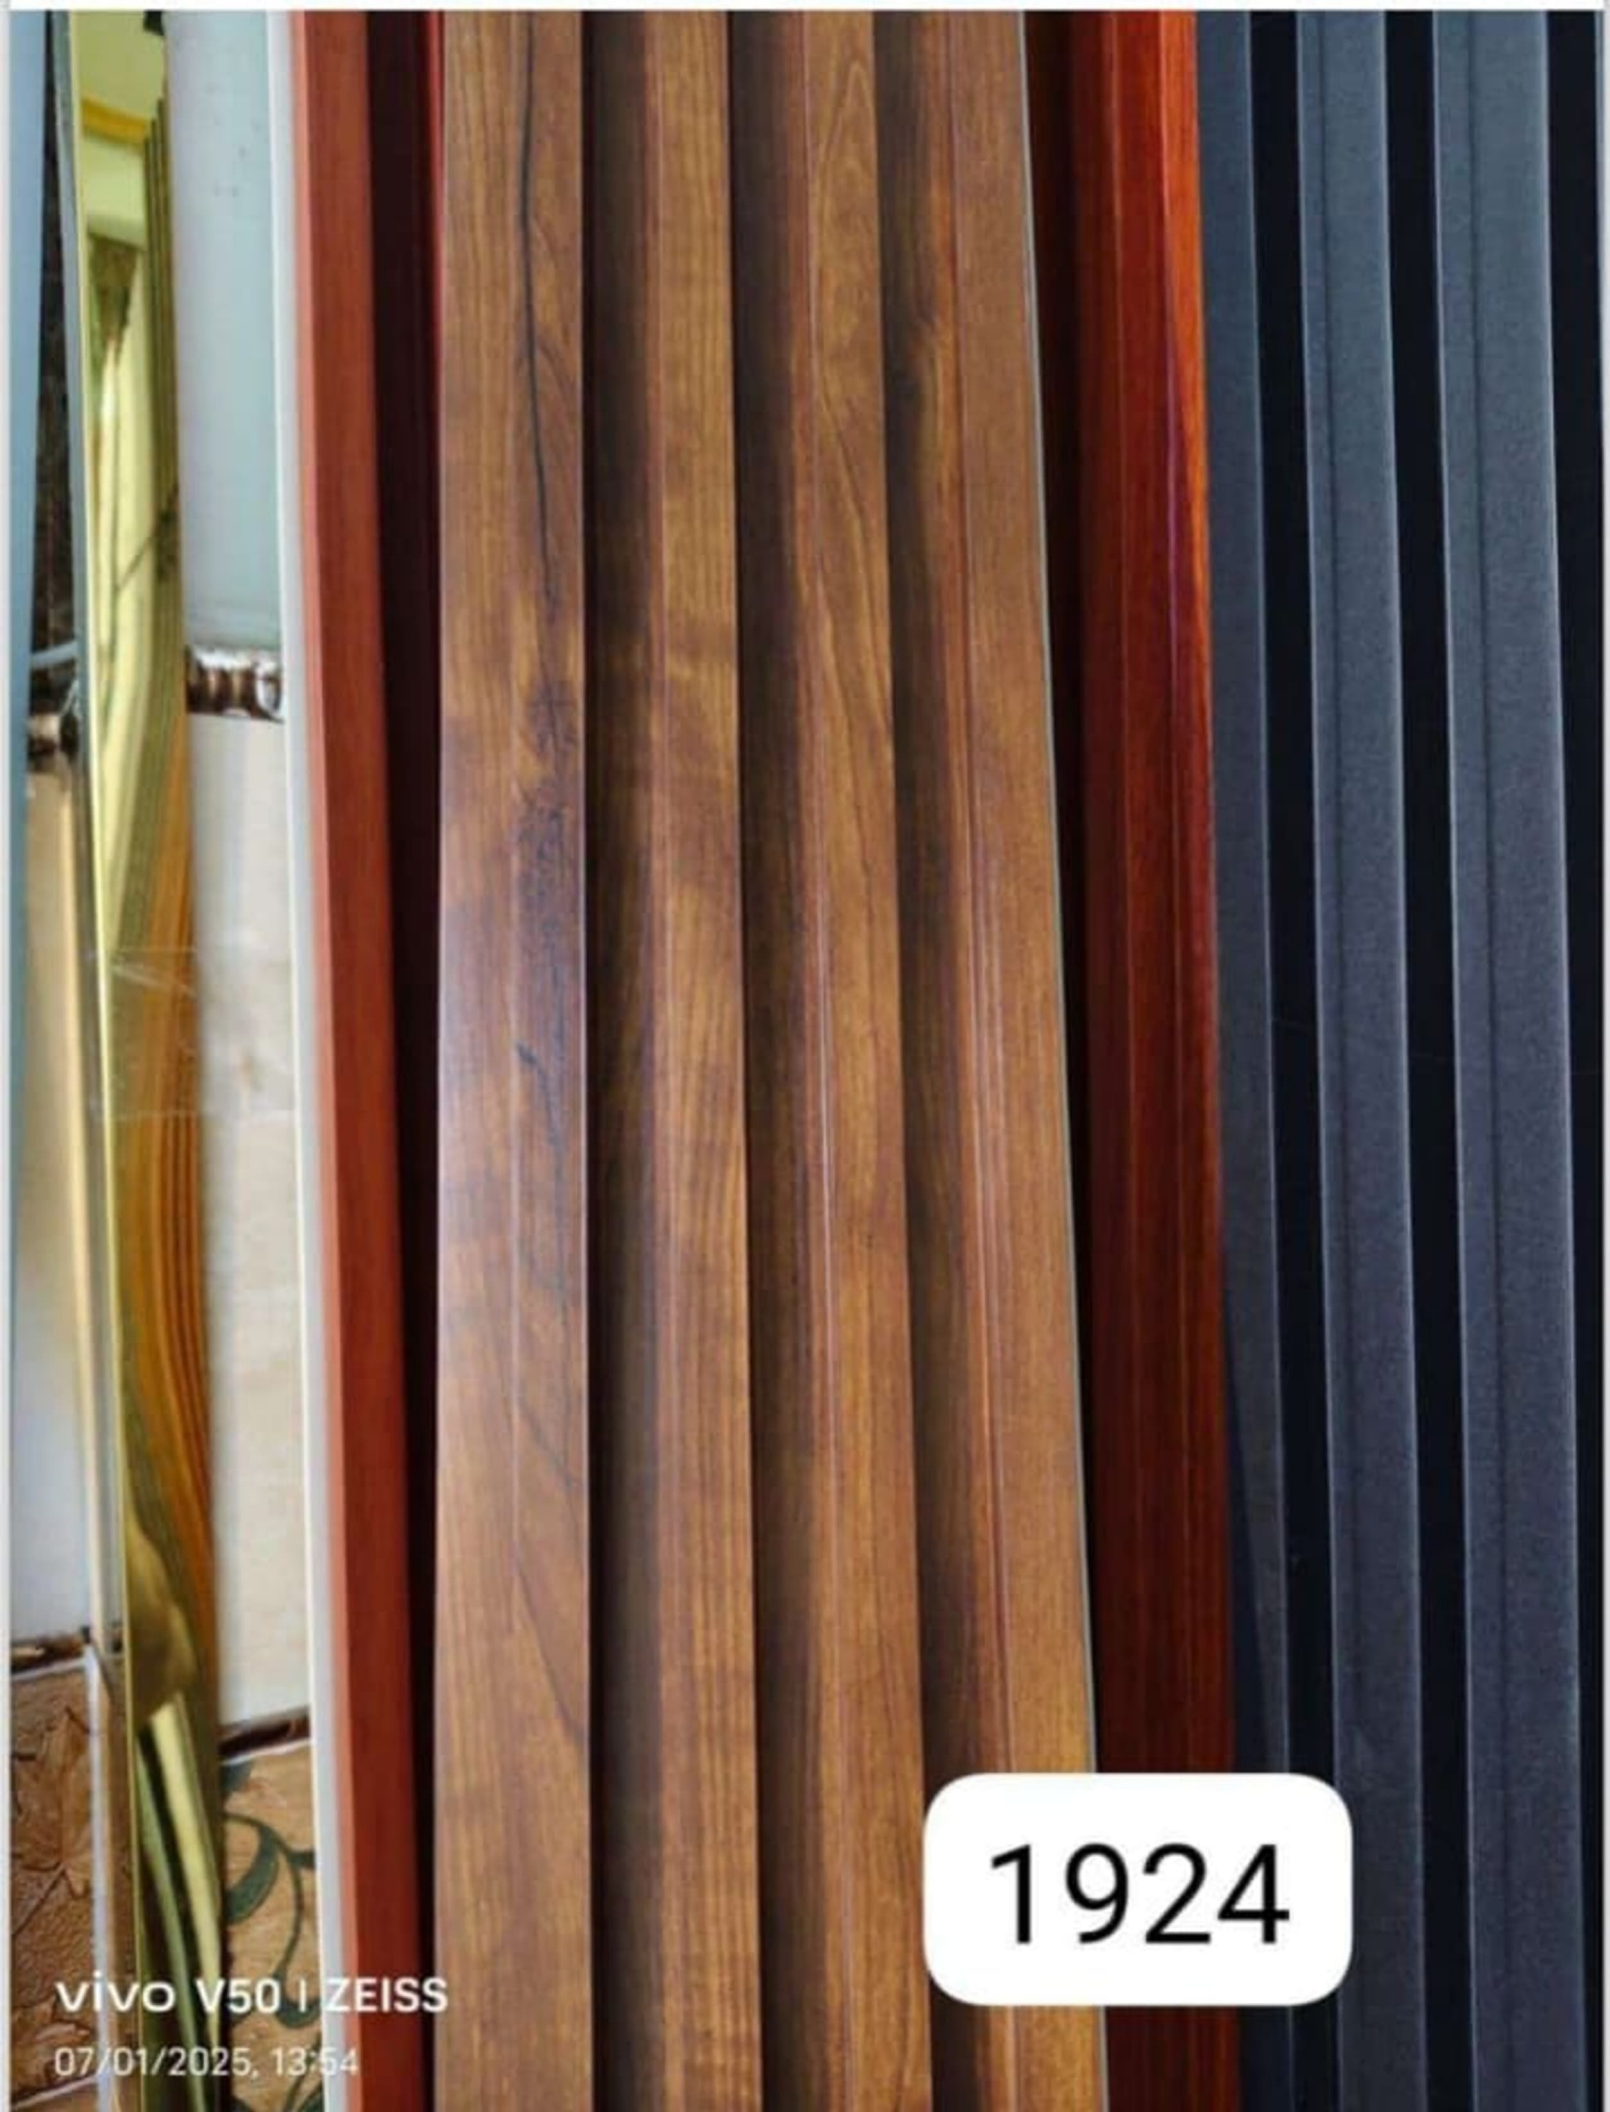

1521

1522

1923

1924

1925

1926

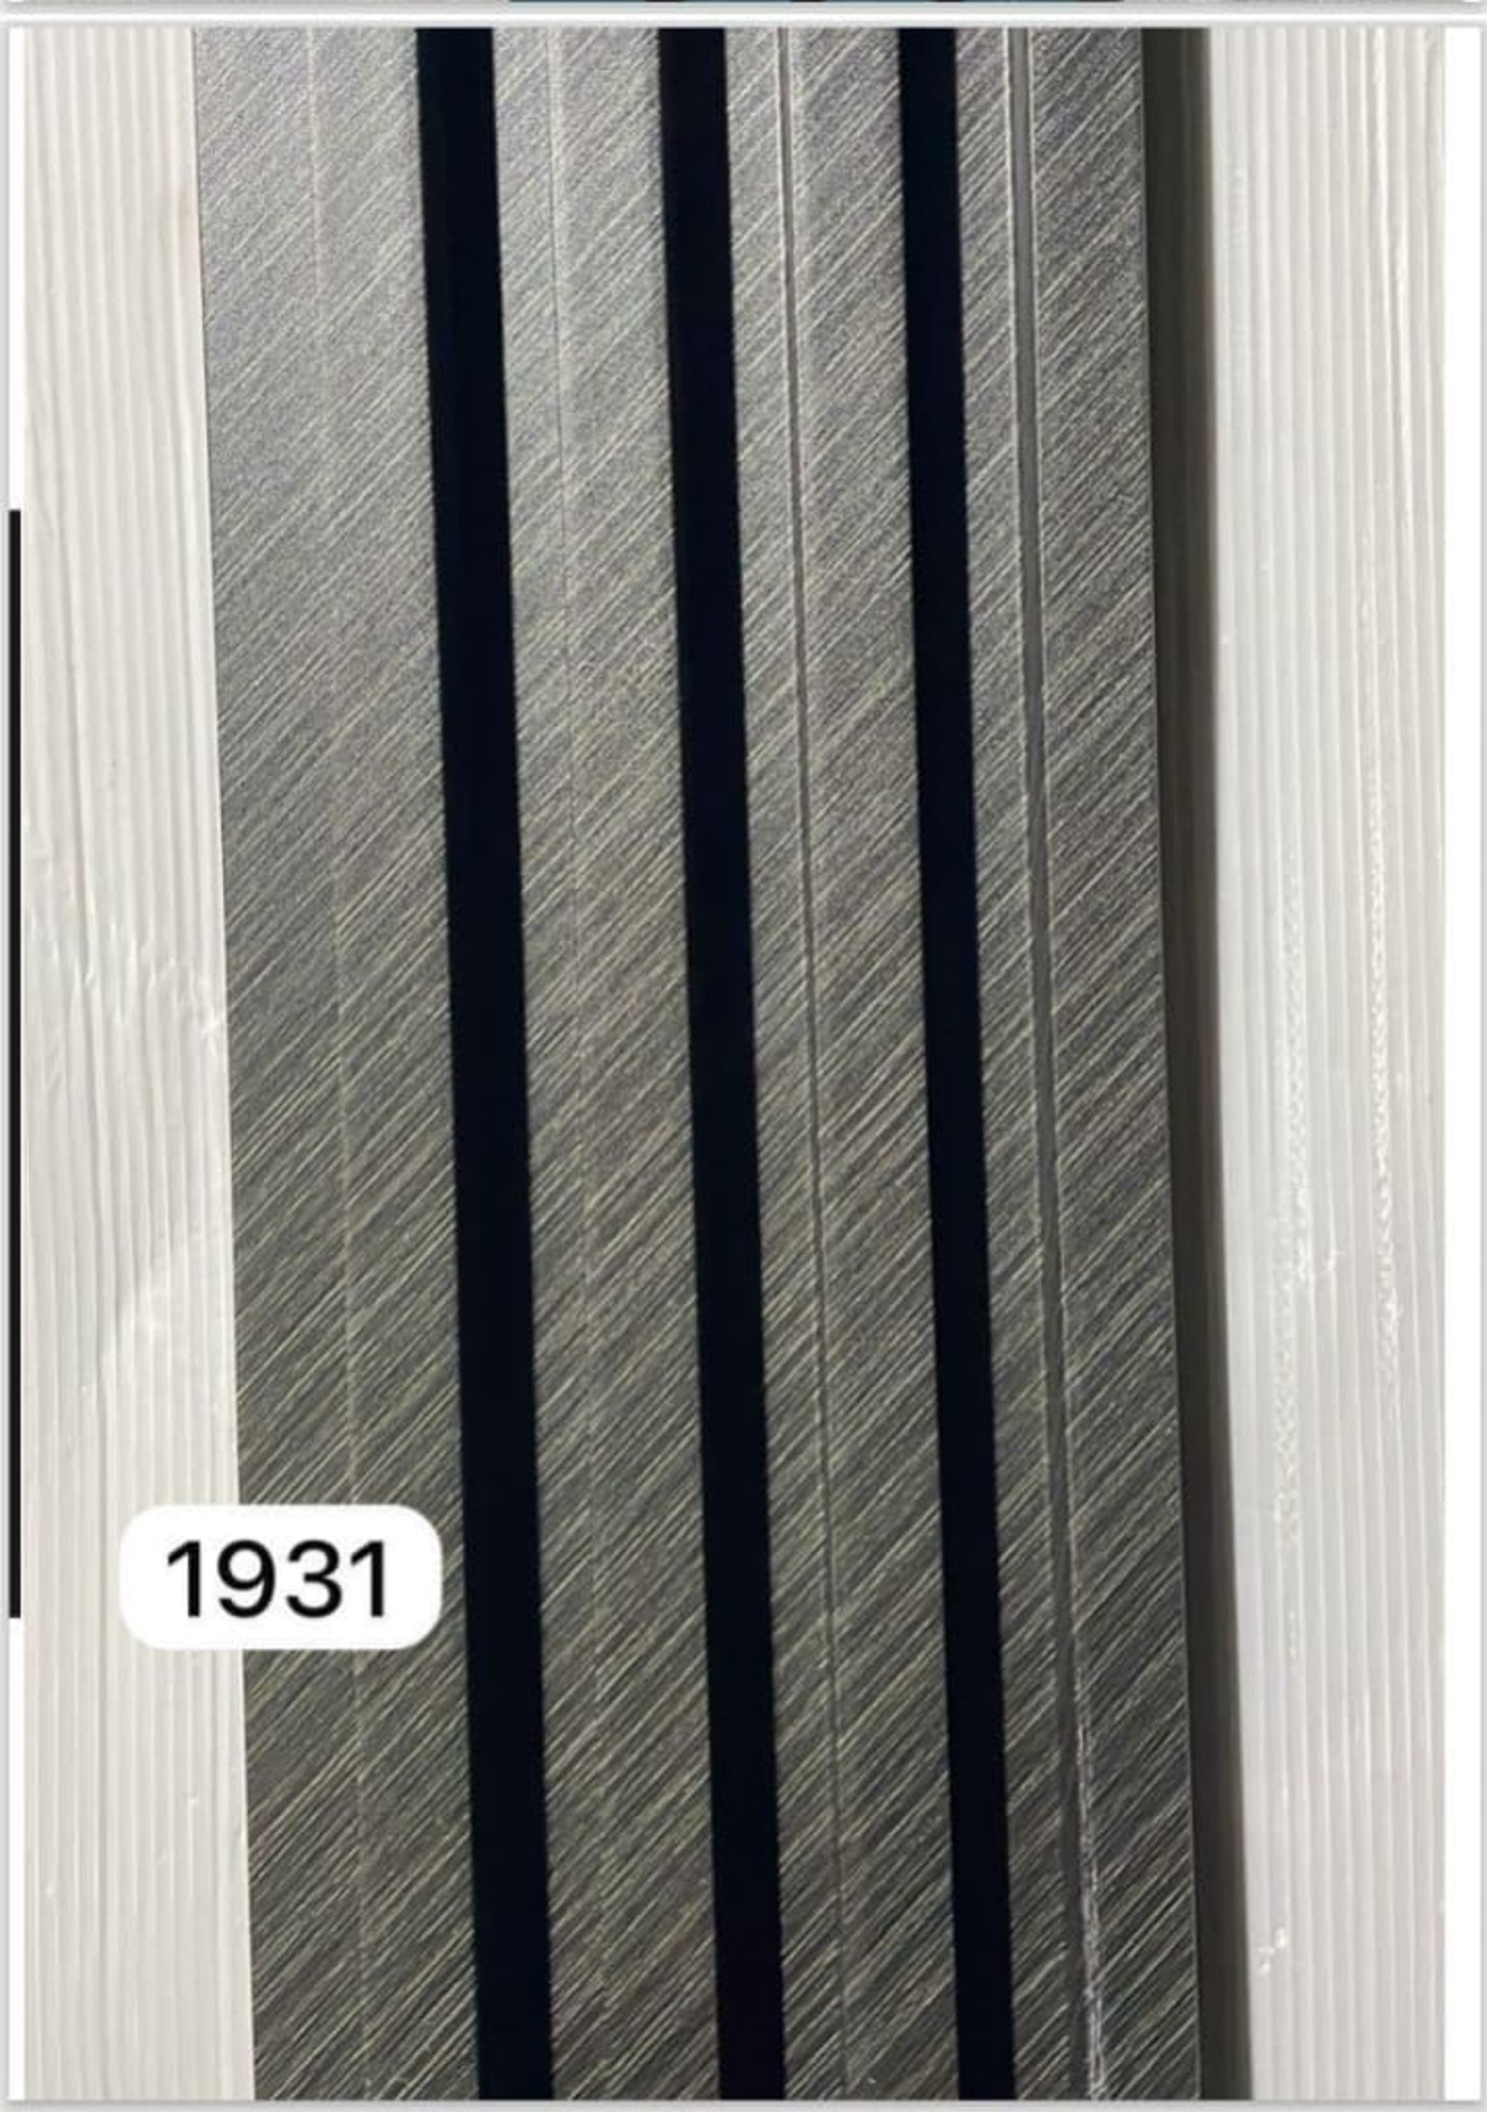

1927

1928

1929

1930

1931

1932

1933

The image shows several vertical wooden planks of varying shades of brown, from light tan to dark chocolate, arranged side-by-side. They are set against a light blue background with a subtle vertical wood grain pattern. A small, dried, yellowish-brown leaf is visible in the bottom right corner.

1934

A vertical wooden slat, likely a piece of furniture or a decorative element, is shown against a light blue background. The slat is made of dark brown wood with a visible grain. A white label with the number 1935 is attached to the left side of the slat.

1935

1936

1937

